

Housing

This (enter as appropriate) notes the important contribution that the co-operative housing sector makes to providing homes for citizens across the European Union, and resolves that measures should be taken to ensure its further development by:

1. Extending financial support for social housing to co-operative housing projects
2. Insisting that publicly funded housing should insist on a minimum standard of tenant control in management structures

